4. After you've searched for your poet, you'll notice there are different types of information found in the search results. You can click on the links on the left to access the types of information you're looking for. Are you on step 1? You could click on Biographies. Are you on step 2? You could click on "Primary Sources & Literary Works"; you might find poems here, although not always. Be sure that when looking for poems, you look at title written by your poet. If you're on step 3, you'd want to click on "Literature Criticism" or "Topic & Work Overviews." Again, be sure the article you find is focusing on the work of your poet rather than simply mentioning him or her or being written by him or her.
